CELEBRATION

Council Proceedings

A HISTORY

Clareholm Will Celebrate Dominion Day

A large and representative meeting of the business men and citizens was held in the Old Fellows Hall on Friday evening last to consider the advisability of holding a celebration in Clareholm on July 1st.

Mr. C. E. Tillotson was elected Chairman of the meeting and Mr. Geo. Simpson secretary.

Mr. E. W. Frost and others spoke of the success of last year's programme and as all seemed satisfied with the way things were carried out last year it was decided to follow the same line for this year's celebration. Suggestions were made to have the race track improved.

C. E. Tillotson and Vanhorn & Hutchinson offered to put on teams to work in conjunction with the town's road grader to make the track in proper shape.

On motion of H. P. Bell and Dr. Stevens Messrs. E. W. Frost, H. P. Moffatt and C. D. Anderson were elected a committee of arrangements for July 1st 1907 with power to appoint sub-committees.

On motion of C. D. Anderson and A. C. Hammett the following were elected a track committee: Tillotson, Robertson and Vanhorn.

Several present suggested the erection of a grand stand but nothing definite was done. Everything connected with the celebration was left in the hands of the committee of arrangements.

The regular meeting of the council, May 29th 1907 was held in the office of Milnes, Frost & Noble.

Present—Mayor Moffatt; Councilors—Frost, Teskey, Clark and Bowen.

Minutes of last meeting read and approved.

Teskey—Clark that petitions for side-walks be referred to street committee. Carried.

Frost—Hansen that the following bills be paid:

L. D. Shilling	3 00
A. McAllister	11 95
Morfeine Hall News	2 25
Anderson & Miller	3 20
T. Coby	1 00
J. McKenzie	17 30
J. E. Woods	91
S. G. Hall	3 00

Clark—Frost that Mayor be authorized to settle for work of connecting the tank with the water works on completion. Carried.

Clark—Frost that we borrow $250 from the water fund to meet side-walk expenses. Carried.

Teskey—Hansen that Mayor Moffatt be authorized to sign cheques in favor of W. W. McAllister for $75 on side-walk work.

Frost—Teskey that we present our money well spent to dept. of Public Works through M. K. McAllister. Carried.

The Local Improvement committee reported that the tender of Cunningham & Lindsay for road grader at $275 laid down here was the lowest and they recommended that this tender be accepted.

Clark—Teskey that report of council be received and accepted. Carried.

Council then adjourned.

Special meeting of council held in the office of Teskey & Robertson May 25th at 9 p.m.

Present Mayor Moffatt; Councilors Teskey, Clark & Frost.

Moved by Clark—Teskey that by law No. 23 be given a third reading and passed. Carried.

Teskey—Clark that the secretary be hereby instructed to write the minister of Public Works asking him for an interview at an early date also to write Mr. McKenzie asking him to accompany the delegation. Carried.

Meeting then adjourned.

Clareholm and Vicinity The Beginning and Progress

To write of Clareholm and vicinity one has a large undertaking; especially if he wishes to do justice to this beautiful part of Alberta. Here is the home of king winter wheat. Here the best cattle the world produces are to be found. It would not be right to start this little story without looking back to the days when the redoubt in the pursuit of game and furs or the cowboy with his rough tough godfathered ways passing his days with cattle and bucking bronchos, none of which will ever this beautiful expanse of prairie while the mounted police man came around once in a while to see that all was well. These were the good old days—so says the old timer.

But presto—the settler drops in and what do we find? The plow and the binder at work and beautiful fields of golden grain. We see fine farm houses and happy and contented farmers. In the middle of this fertile and prosperous territory we have the enterprising little town of Clareholm. To the west we have Grand Rocky Mountains and to the east great expanse of rolling prairie.

Let us first look at the growth of Clareholm and vicinity. The first party of farmers brought in was by Mr. O. J. Amundson in 1902. These were a few settlers from North Dakota and to them he sold twenty-one sections in one afternoon.

Mr. Amundson also laid out the town site but the first to settle in the town was Mr. Wm. Moffatt who arrived here with cars of lumber. He piled the lumber on the prairie and sat on the top of the highest pile and watched for buyers. While there a mounted policeman rode up and asked Mr. Moffatt if he were not lost but he shook his head and replied not quite. From that pile of lumber sprang the first buildings of our town—Mrs. Carberg's boarding house, Fisher & Ross general store and McAllister's hardware store.

There were the pioneers and from this little start we have today one of the finest towns on the C.A.E. railway.

Note—The above is an extract from an historical sketch of Clareholm which will be published in the near future and is compiled by C.D. Anderson who has applied for a Copyright on it.

Foot Ball

Monthly Report

By a mistake we omitted from last week's Review an account of the foot ball match between Okotoks and Clareholm at Okotoks. This was the first League game played by the local team this season. The line up was as follows.

Griffith (goal), Wallen & Keller (backs), Johnson, Winters & Wood (half backs); Oats, E. Moffatt, Watt, Sutherland and W. Moffatt (forward).

The Clareholm boys did not have their best team along so they scarcely expected to win but they did not play long before they realized that they were up against a harder proposition than they had counted on. The game ended in a score of 3-0 in favor of Okotoks. The score would have looked much worse to our boys if it had not been for the remarkably good work of Griffith in goal.

Okotoks has a heavy and speedy team but with out best team and some good practice before then it is hoped to give Okotoks the game of their life when they play here on August 8th.

Sunday In Restaurants.

Winnipeg, Man. May 15. Restaurants may sell fish, nuts, (or cream), and cigars on Sunday the same as any other days, to be consumed either on the premises or wherever it may please them to do so, in spite of the interpretation of the Lord's Day Act as handed out by the Police Commission.

This was the substance of the decision by Premier Roblin to a delegation of more than 100 wholesale fruit and tobacco dealers and restaurateurs at the government building this morning.

Obituary

It is our painful duty this week to record the death of Mr. W. R. Coulburn of Meadow Creek who died at the house of Mr. Travis Bagley on Saturday May 25th after a short illness of only a few days.

The remains were brought into town to the undertaking parlors of the Clareholm furniture Co. where they remained until the funeral took place on Tuesday morning at 10 o'clock. The burial services were held in the undertaking parlors and at the grave side by Rev. Mr. Cramp the Church of England rector. Interment took place in the union cemetery.

Mr. Coulburn came to this country from England about a year ago and settled in the Meadow Creek district where he bought a half section of land and engaged in farming. The sympathy of all goes out to the bereaved parents and relatives in the old country. To the parents so far away, the shock must have indeed been great to get a telegram announcing their son's death when they believed him to be in the best health.

THE SOMERSAULT CAR.

Automobile That Turns Completely Over in Mid-air.

Whatever may be thought of the American somersaulting motor car as a public performance, it is certainly a triumph of scientific mechanics. The car, moving down a steeply inclined track, attains a velocity of twenty-eight miles an hour. Leaving the track at the base of the incline, it is shot into the air and turns a complete somersault before reaching a platform some feet off. The arrangement by which this remarkable feat is achieved are notable for their simplicity. The necessary grating impulse is given to the car as it reaches the base of the incline by the arrangement of the guiding rails in relation to the track itself. On the incline, which starts at a height of fifty feet from the ground, are a pair of broad tracks for the wheels of the car, and between these a pair of guide rails. The car is kept to these rails by four ball bearing rollers, two in front and two behind. The former press the sides of the rails, while the latter run in grooves on the tops of the same. This arrangement, combined with the sharp upward turn of the rails at the base of the incline, gives the car the necessary twisting impulse just as it leaps into the air, for the front wheels of the car remain on the track, while the hind ones are tilted up by the back rollers, which run on the top of the rails. As the center of gravity of the car describes a parabola in the air the car itself turns a slow somersault, moving through 40 degrees for every two feet horizontal advance. Having turned completely round, it will have thus advanced nine feet, and a collapsible platform is placed at this distance to receive it. The car lands on this in a horizontal position, the force of the impact being taken up by the springs, and runs off it for some thirty or forty feet. The success of the affair consists in the careful adjustment of the pitch of the rails in relation to that of the track. The car must land on the platform all four wheels at once; otherwise, as has been shown by actual occurrence, the whole first landing will be crumpled and the car damaged—London Globe.

Hotel Where Charlotte Corday Stopped.

A good deal of old Paris is disappearing just now, and among the last bits of the antique city to be threatened is the little spot upon which Charlotte Corday found a fleeting place of rest as she entered the city on her errand of death. It stands on the street which prior to the days of the revolution had been known as that of the "Vest Antigone." It is the Rue d'Argout. The building is the Hotel de la Monnaie. Charlotte arrived in Paris from Caen on July 17, 1793, slept at the hotel on that and the following night and on the morning of the 17th walked quietly out of it to slay the monster Marat. The bedroom is still pointed out which the Norman girl occupied, and some regret is felt that the place has to be demolished. But the march of progress is merciless. The buildings are needed to extend the Rue du Louvre, and soon human feet will tramp on the spot where the Norman heroine slept her last calm sleep of maiden freedom.

Saving a Hen's Life.

There have been nearly 6,000 cases of suffering animals, from an injured calf horse to a consumptive lizard, treated at the animals' hospital in Westminster, London, the last nine months. One of the latest inmates is a two-year-old hen which is suffering from a peculiar disease in the crop. The hen in the hospital is the last one of a family of nine, the others having died from the same disease. A unique operation is being resorted to by the doctor to save the hen's life. Every day a rubber tube is inserted in the hen's mouth, and its crop is filled with warm water. Then the hen is turned upside down, and the water is allowed to trickle out.

A Violin of Matchbox.

Karl Wagner, an upholsterer living at Munich, has constructed a violin entirely out of wooden matchboxes. The instrument has a good tone, and the back is ornamented by a picture of the tower of the famous Frauenkirche. Wagner first made a model of the parts in cardboard and then glued over them the matches, which are perfectly joined. The cardboard was then removed and the parts put together. Ten boxes of matches supplied the necessary wood, and Wagner was engaged for a year on the work. He has presented the violin to his son, who is a promising musician.

Three Points For Home Gardeners.

There are three important points for the amateur to remember in raising flowers from seed for the decoration of the home garden—namely: To select the good and well known kinds that grow most easily and to leave the "novelty" alone; to purchase the best seeds, from reliable seed firms only; to plant them in well prepared soil, at the proper depth and at the right season. And, adds the Good Housekeeping household, don't count much on freak or "sport" plants, so long as you can get panicles, sinuities, asters and the other old reliables.

Scrimped For Sweet Charity.

America is not the only nation whose rich men give generously to public works. A French Jew has bequeathed $100,000 francs to public institutions, half of it to the Pasteur Institute. His account of himself was touching and simple: "They say I have been miserly. They poke fun at my greed. What do I care? It pleases me to reflect that that greed will benefit the wretched and that, after all, it is for them I have worked."

Fort William to Tide Water

The Georgian Bay Canal Commission has completed the preliminary survey of the 21-foot waterway from Georgian bay to Montreal via the French river, Lake Nipissing and the Ottawa river, at a cost of some $600,000. The detailed report of the commission, giving the estimated total cost of the canal, the location and character of the structural work, the available water power and all other facts, is in the course of preparation and will be presented to parliament early next session.

The engineers of the commission have not completed exactly the estimated total cost of the construction work but from reliable sources it is learned that the cost of construction will not be less than $100,000,000. From an engineering point of view the project is entirely feasible for there are no great engineering difficulties to overcome. The question parliament will have to consider is whether the benefits that will accrue to the Dominion through the construction of a waterway that will make Fort William an ocean port, practically, and the shortening of the present route by water from Fort William to Montreal by over 400 miles will justify the expenditure of so large a sum.

The report will state that it will be possible at a moderate expenditure to reduce the flood level of the Ottawa and increase the low water level by a series of the dams and the control of the tributary waters. This would result in increasing the value of the water power now available and would prove of benefit to that portion of the Dominion. It is estimated that with the completion of the canal there will be over 500,000 horse power available, or almost as much as that at Niagara Falls.

It is almost a certainty that the parliament will sanction the building of this waterway, even though the estimated cost be so great.

People everywhere take pleasure in testifying to the good qualities of Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. Mr. Edward Phillips of Hareley, Md., writes: "I wish to tell you that I can recommend Chamberlain's Cough Remedy. My little girl Catherine who is two years old, has been taking this remedy whenever she has had a cough, and it has been two months old. About a month ago I contracted a dreadful cold myself, but I took Chamberlain's Cough Remedy and was soon as well as ever." This remedy is for sale by Claresholm Pharmacy.

The Turkey and the Preacher

"I had just commenced taking service on Sunday in a village in Southern Manitoba when on looking down the aisle I saw to my consternation that a turkey had strayed into the hall. The novelty of the situation filled me with an almost uncontrollable desire to laugh, so, as quietly as this nervous I resolved to ask the churchwarden to eject the intruder. But before I could do so a dog appeared and sat just inside the door. Visions of a turkey-dog spangled forced me to abandon ideas of offensive operations. Meanwhile, it must be admitted, the turkey was behaving itself most decorously, except that when the congregation stood up it exhibited symptoms of perturbation by preening its feathers and stretching upward its neck to the furthest limit. Imagine the difficulty of preaching before that bird and maintaining one's equilibrium, especially when we sang 'Happy birds that sing and fly.' Fortunately the turkey did not like the hat, but remained quietly seated on the floor to the end of the service, when it calmly walked out with the people. Speaking to a member of the congregation about the incident he replied, 'I knew nothing of it, but I considered why you were blushing so much.'"

Department of

The Interior

Hon. Frank Oliver, minister of the interior was in Calgary Monday and was of course eagerly interviewed. The following is taken from the Alberta Herald.

"There are more applications for water rights for land, than there is land for irrigation," said Mr. Oliver. "Until such time as the administration settles itself upon the irrigation position no action is being taken with these applications. Mr. Oliver informed that Alberta that new regulations respecting coal areas had been passed on the day before he left Ottawa for West. These coal regulations, it will be remembered, were suspended early in March. Hereafter the government will sell on coal land. They have coal rights for 21 years at $1.00 an acre. After one year the Government Department has the right to give the lessee one year's notice that coal must be produced or the lease will be cancelled, and also the amount of coal that is to be produced. The royalty upon coal will be five cents a ton."

Speaking of the Immigration question Mr. Oliver said that the department were only encouraging the best class of British and United States immigrants, to whom they were paying special attention. "We are not pushing continental immigration at all," he said. "As a matter of fact at the present time the Canadian ships are being crowded with Britons, and that being the case we do not feel called upon to go to any trouble to attract foreigners here as we formerly did before the immigration from the British Isles and the United States set in. In Great Britain we are given every kind of encouragement and the people are for every favorable inclined to come here and settle, while in Europe we practically have the door shut in our faces. There is therefore on reason whatever why we should push ourselves in where we are not wanted, when there are places where we are wanted."

"The only people to whom we are offering bonuses are those who want to go to the land on their own account. For others, those who want to work on railway construction and families who wish to enter into domestic service. They must be A-1 in every respect. All these have to be proved sound mentally, morally and physically, or they are not allowed to land, or if they are allowed to land and are afterwards found unfit, they are sent back again. This may seem a very drastic course to take, but it is to give the people at the other end a warning that we want no undesirable in Canada, and cannot be forced to accept any."

"At the present time we are easily able to fill all the demands made upon us for labor. In Ontario we are supplying all the farm labor necessary, and this is being done to the satisfaction of both the employer and the employee, so you see that we are making great strides towards solving the problem of populating Canada with the right kind of people."

Coal Commission For Alberta

That there may be no repetition of the strikes of coal experienced last winter and of the recent strike in the coal mine in Alberta the provincial government, through an order in council, last week appointed a coal commission composed of the following three men: Arthur L. Sifton, chief justice of the Supreme Court of Alberta, Lewis Stockert manager of the Handfield mines, and William Hanson, president of the Coleman Mines' union and a working miner at Coleman E. Townbridge of Edmonton has been appointed secretary to the commission.

This commission will sit at all the principal mining camps and will be empowered to investigate and report upon all disputes concerning the rights of employers of labor and the laborers themselves employed in the coal mines, especially in regard to wages and hours of labor.

MOVING TIME.

Yes, I know the sun is shining.
And I know the skies are blue.
And I know the silver lining
Of the cloud is breaking through.
But I see no sign in sorrow
For the signs of spring before
Darkness will open the morrow.
To declare she wants to move.

I have heard the robin singing.
And the cuckoo here I've seen;
I have seen the crocus springing.
And the lily is showing green.
And the lawn is showing green.
And it only seems to prove
When the days are long and heavy
She's made up her mind to move.

Not to Be Outdone.

Auntie—How is it that you made no objection when the lieutenant offered to kiss you, dearie?
Dearie—Why, auntie, you didn't object when he kissed you, so I thought it would be all right—Megamother blather.

It Was Too Much.

Brigadier General Andrew S. Hart of the United States army is an enthusiastic sportsman, says the Detroit Free Press. His hobby is baseball. Prior to 1888, when he became a legislator, he was the commanding officer of a negro regiment of regular infantry. Each company had its ball team, and the colonel was an enthusiastic lover of the game.

One day a contest was on which was marred by the poor playing of a member of one of the company teams. Hart, disgusted, volunteered to take the place of the incompetent. No one objected. At the last the colonel was given a base on balls. He noted that the men on the coaching lines kept silent while he was on the base, and after he had made the circuit he re-mentioned.

"See here," he exclaimed, stepping out of his coat. "I've taken off my shoulder straps now, and you fellows want to treat me just as if I was a private!"

Again Hart was at the bat. He hit the ball and started for first.

"Run, you gimpy legged, sawed off and turtled! Run, run, run!" howled one of the coaches.

Hart reached first safely, turned and rounded the coacher for an instant, then left the base, walked over to where the decisional home-plate and put it on. He said nothing, but the negroes understood. It was too much.

Where She Lost Interest.

"Automobile does tonie one's hair," said the beautiful young creature as they descended from the machine and started up the dark walk toward the house where they were to call. "It does," he inquired politely.

"Indeed? I fancy you should carry a small hand mirror and some hairpins when you go automobiling," he suggested, moving right up to the door.

Some way or other, by one of those unexplainable psychological impulses, at that very moment she began to realize he was not the man she would select as an ally—Judge.

No Time to Lose.

The wise old doctor was impressing upon his little patient the essentiality of medication.

"My lad," he advised, "no matter what you eat always chew each mouthful thirty times."

But Johnny shook his head significantly. "That wouldn't do at our house, doctor."

No Use.

"Of course," said the political economist, "you think you could run the government."

"Oh, yes," answered the railway magnate boldly, "but what's the use? We couldn't make it pay dividends without being accused of graft."

No Questions Asked.

Hewitt—Have you ever kissed another man's wife?
Jewett—I really can't say. I never ask to see a lady's marriage certificate before I make love to her—New York Press.

Harrowing.

"Then I am under" cried the heroine, turning away from the audience.

"Only two books for the collar," observed the genial gallery dog—Luck.

Contemptible Insinuation.

Mrs. Beulah—I made a good many bad pies when I was a child.
Benjamin—Yes; you learned your trade well.
